

ON THE OTHER ISLANDS

Not To Increase Capitalization
Before leaving for the mainland J. A. Buck, San Francisco capitalist said he was not in favor of increasing the capitalization of the Honolulu Plantation Company from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000, as had been proposed. He said he reached this conclusion after a conference with James Gibb, manager of the plantation, and other Island persons interested in the property. He said, however, that his views might not be accepted by other Coast stockholders.

Inter-Island Shows Loss But Makes Good Profit Just Same
At the annual meeting of the Inter-Island S. N. Co. the stockholders were informed and shown that while the aggregate earnings of the corporation were very satisfactory there was a net loss on the steamship department for the year of $24,043.93. The depreciation written off of steamers and carried to a reserve account amounted to $167,586.47.

The profit on the non-public utility enterprise for the year figured out $855,089.27. Deducting from this the sum of $24,043.93 lost on the steamship business, a general profit of $851,045.34 is shown. Out of this the sum of $360,000 was paid out in dividends and $150,000 is reserved for taxes, leaving a net surplus from the year's profits (not including previous surplus) of $151,045.34.

Public utility and non-public utility property of the company is valued at $1,949,760.22. The capitalization is $3,000,000. The surplus at the end of the year was $870,972, this not including insurance and other funds, $954,293.39.

The dividend rate for the year was 12 percent, while the surplus was increased, net, slightly more than 5 percent, indicating a net profit of 17 percent plus for the year.

Dankey To Be Temporary Head Of Promotion Committee
Phil Dankey, the San Francisco representative of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, is to come to Honolulu to take charge of the office there until selection is made of a permanent secretary to take the place of Fred Halton, who has resigned and who will leave to accept an important railroad position in Chicago about April 15. Dankey will receive $200 a month in his new job. The matter was decided at a meeting of the promotionists in Honolulu last week at which Maui was represented by W. O. Aiken.

DESTINY

To President Woodrow Wilson.

By P. MAURICE McMAHON.

(Inspired by the following poetic and prophetic utterance of President Wilson in his New York speech, March 5, 1919. "I want to utter a solemn warning to the forces of the world, not to threaten but to operate. The great tides of the world will not give notice of their rise but will run, and rising in their majesty will overwhelm in their might all those who stand in the way. The overwhelmed heart of the world is awake and must be satisfied.")

The tides of the world are rising,
Rising and swiftly running,
In silence sweeping onward,
Giving forth no sound.
And woe to the forces of earth
Who dare to impede or stay them:
Like falling leaves in Autumn
They'll be swept by the tides away;

Oh, the great throbbing heart of the world,
In fetters and in anguish,
Has sorrowed through ages long,
And must now be satisfied!
For one from the Gods has come,
With their fire in his bosom burning,
To lead mankind from the shadows
And mists to the open sea.

As the lightnings are his glances,
His words, the thunder crashing,
Echoing in our hearts,
And will echo when they're still!
And the peoples of the sad earth
Will hail him as their saviour:
This messenger of the Gods,
The doer of their will!

'Tis Destiny that speaks
In the message which he brings us,
Clear, unequivocal,
As the voice of God alone!
Oh, ye who have ears to hear,
Awake and hear and heed it,
Or perish by opposing
The truths he doth make known!

The hour has struck at last
For the glorious upward movement
Of the races of our planet
In their struggles to be free;
With consciousness unfolding
They behold the pathway shining:
Another gleam of knowledge
In life's vast mystery!

Working Both Ends

War-correspondent Lincoln Eyre tells of a rascally French innkeeper who had given a Sammie a bad piece of money. The incensed dough-boy went back and demanded good money, and after some argument the innkeeper made good. Just as the dough-boy was about to leave the innkeeper called him back.

"Pardon, monsieur, but will you kindly give me back the bad coin?"
"Can't be done, Frenchy," chuckled the dough-boy, "it took me three hours to pass it myself."—The Argonaut.

Colonial troops first served with the British army in 1884-5, when New South Wales sent a contingent of 800 to the Sudan.

To Rob Maui Of Representation To Bribe Kauai

to know the why and wherefore of the juggling of the apportionment figures without any apparent sound reasons therefor.

Representative Lorrin Andrews of the judiciary committee said it was common knowledge that in the last several years the population of Kauai had increased through the addition of homesteaders, and that there had been a corresponding decrease in the population of Maui. Therefore he argued, Kauai should be entitled to one more representative, and Maui one less.

"If we are going to start throwing things around like this," declared Representative William T. Rawlins, "why not begin with the 5th district (Oahu)?" He then explained that without a doubt there had been a large increase in the population of the 5th district during the last several years. It is very apparent that the majority of the Oahu members were not convinced nor enlightened by the argument advanced by the chairman of the judiciary committee. It is also apparent that a large majority of the Oahu solons are in favor of reapportionment, believing it to be the duty of the legislature to obey the provisions of the Organic Act in this as well as in all other matters.

Representative Henry Lyman seemed to have hit the nail rather squarely on the head when he remarked in the house the other day:

"The Organic Act says that there shall be an apportionment of the legislators 'from time to time.' In the opinion of many of us, that time has not yet arrived."

Workmen's Compensation Up
All of the Maui members of the house voted against the passage of the reapportionment bill on third and final reading. It is not believed they will change their minds before the 21st.

A vigorous protest has been received by the legislature from a member of the Maui industrial accident board protesting against the passage of Representative Andrews' amendment to the present compensation. This amendment provides that an injured person may elect whether he will seek compensation through the board or through the courts. Tuesday morning the judiciary committee, of which Andrews is chairman, reported out on the bill and recommended that it pass on second reading. The report was adopted. The bill comes up on third and final reading sometime this morning.

Lease Money For Homesteaders
Of interest to homesteaders and small farmers is the bill introduced in the house on Wednesday by Speaker Holstein. This measure calls upon Congress to set aside for lease, under the direction of the land commissioner, certain lands in the territory, the proceeds to be loaned and used in connection with the proposed farm loan board, and to encourage the establishment of a rural population and the development of agriculture through loans to homesteaders and persons engaged in agricultural pursuits.

Suffrage Has Opposition
The woman suffrage bill will probably be reported out in the house this morning. Since its passage by the senate the measure has been before the judiciary committee of the lower house, and it is understood that at least two members of the judiciary committee will oppose the passage of the measure on its second reading, their main protest, it is said, being against the provision that suffrage be conferred without submitting the matter to a plebiscite.

To make matters still more complicated, Representative J. K. Jarrett introduced in the house this morning a bill providing that the entire question of woman suffrage be laid before the electorate at the primary and municipal election in May and June. It is presumed that opposition to this measure will develop immediately. Both the house and the senate have held public hearings on the suffrage question, and already petitions are beginning to come in from women in various parts of the territory, urging that the bill pass so that they can vote at the elections this spring. It is likely that the measure will go through in its present form, in spite of the opposition that is looming up.

Electric Franchise For Makawao
During the past week the Maui members of the house and senate have been hard at work and have submitted a large number of bills other measures. On Wednesday Representative Tavares introduced a measure whereby H. W. Rice, D. C. Lindsay and A. F. Tavares seek a franchise for the manufacture and sale of electric power in Makawao district. The bill provides that the franchise be in effect for 50 years.

Propose A Movie Censorship
Managers of motion picture theaters on the Valley Island had best exercise rigid caution in the selection of their reels, for there has been introduced in the legislature a bill providing for the creation of a board of motion picture censors and, if it passes, everything in the movies that might tend to corrupt one's morals is going to be sequestered out. It is provided further that all films and views must be submitted to the board before being shown. Banners, posters and other matter used in the advertising of motion pictures will be subject to the approval of the board also.

Garnishment Bill Killed
The house recently "put to sleep" in the second round the fond dream of a Kauai solon to exempt bonuses from garnishment. This dream, as it were, had been embodied in a house bill, but it got no further than the judiciary committee, and it took the full count when it came out on second reading. It was tabled, but not until after considerable argument. A few days later the same representative introduced another bill embodying exactly the same provisions. This measure is still in committee.

Would Pay Teachers in Army
Representative Normal Lyman's bill providing that school teachers and principals who entered the military or naval service be paid the difference between their federal pay and territorial salary, has passed third reading in the house and has been sent to the senate.

The board of harbor commissioners has laid before the senate ways and means committee its schedule of requested appropriations. One of the items calls for the construction of a new wharf on the island of Maui. The location of the proposed wharf has not yet been decided upon.

On Friday Representative Joseph introduced a bill providing for an appropriation of $250 for the payment of certain freight charges to the owners of the Kipahulu wharf.

Representative Paschoal introduced a resolution authorizing the commissioner of public lands to set aside an area of land at Hana, Maui, for use as a public park.

Franchise Asked For Hana Concern
Senator Baldwin introduced on Saturday a bill providing for a franchise for the Hana Ice and Electric Co., to engage in the business indicated by the firm name, at Hana, Maui. The franchise will have to be approved by Congress and it is provided that this approval be secured within two years. The bill passed first reading. Why Wade Is Out Of Pocket

There is considerable talk in the house of representatives just now concerning why Herbert A. Wade, principal of the Haku school, was not reimbursed for the money he spent in twice going to San Francisco as a witness for the state of California in the Mooney trial. There has been introduced in the house a bill providing that Wade be paid $642.35, as representing money he actually lost through the journeys and through his having to absent himself from his work.

When the finance committee reported this bill out on second reading, the question was raised as to why Wade had not been reimbursed from other sources. According to statements made, Wade even went as far as the governor of the State of California in an effort to secure a reimbursement, but failed. Today the measure was re-referred to the finance committee, which will go further into the matter before making another report on the bill. The measure was introduced by Representative Tavares.

Citizenship Bill Tabled

The bill providing an appropriation of $10,000 for the establishment of citizenship classes in the public schools of the territory was tabled in the house upon the recommendation of the finance committee. The committee stated that there were undoubtedly better methods by which this matter could be taken care of.

Bound to Have Molokai Trip

Members of the house have voted to adopt a concurrent resolution authorizing the health committee of the house and senate to provide ways and means for a visit of the legislators to the Kalaupapa settlement. Inmates of the settlement have requested that this visit be made before the appropriation bill is finally passed upon. A visit to Molokai has been made by the solons during every session with the exception of that of 1917, when Speaker H. L. Holstein's filibuster let the steamer sail away without the lawmakers.

On Monday Representative Joseph introduced a bill prohibiting the catching of nehu and iao with nets more than 18 feet in length.

The education committee of the senate, reporting on Senate Bill 76, raising the College of Hawaii to the status of a university, recommended the passage of the measure as well as an appropriation of $70,000 for carrying out the object indicated.

Money Asked For High School
The Maui select committee has reported favorably on Senate Bill 104, providing a tax rate for the high school on Maui, and on Senate Bill 127, providing for the purchase of additional law books for the Maui circuit court.

Wants Dentist For Lepers

Representative Paschoal introduced on Tuesday a resolution requesting an appropriation of $5000 for supplying the services of a dentist at the Kalaupapa settlement. The representative explained that a number of the inmates are suffering from poor teeth and that at present there are no proper facilities for their relief.

For Lahaina Wharf
Representative Wafaholo introduced a bill appropriating $200,000 for the construction of a wharf either at Lahaina or Mala, Maui.

LONDON POLICE ORDERED TO TURN IN ALL ARMS

LONDON, February 10—(By Associated Press)—The last vestige of military equipment was taken from the London police today when an order was issued by the Commissioner of the Metropolitan force for the return to the stores of all swords and scabbards.

In the old days superintendents, inspectors and all mounted men carried swords and were instructed in cutlass drill. The weapons were occasionally used in the suppression of riots. Years ago the inspectors were deprived of their swords, which they hung in the police stations. The order withdrawing the swords will not lead to the withdrawal of automatic pistols, a supply of which is kept in every police station for use in cases of emergency. In ordinary times the London "Bobby" goes out for duty armed with no more effective weapon than the law and the impressive dignity of his six foot personality.

Airplanes capable of carrying 25 men and of traveling 900 miles without a stop have been developed in Italy.
